Design Your Own Set

Creating a set for the little fingers is a fun way to involve the kids even more. Your options are endless! Rocks and toy trees or bushes add interest. We placed two boards between some small tables and covered them with green and brown felt. We also draped fabric over some odd shaped items to make mountains. You could easily make a desert scene with rocks and little tufts of grass or flowers. The important thing is that whatever you use is on the scale of the fingers.

For added fun, challenge older children to write their own script, act it out and record it!
